Hi Evan,

Thanks for the updates.
The synagogue is a designated landmark, and as such the placement on the lot with the garden and setback from Congress Street are all features of the protected property. As a result, we can be quite certain the garden is unlikely to change. Deb says there was once talk of a small garden structure, but no details or proposals were ever generated, and in any event that would not be likely to matter.

Hope this helps.
Best,
Rob
