Dear Laurie,
Thanks for the email. There is no work involved with the above building permit (the form to be used for a change of dwelling has to be a building permit though). As discussed with Anne Machado who was the first person I went to for advice. Email are not always clear and I suggest I call you this week to discuss and more importantly so i can answer all your questions. Happy to stop by at your convenience too if easier to address face to face.
Looking forward to connecting soon. Thanks again.
