Comments:

3/3/2008-amachado: Spoke to Wally Geyer. Need copies of letters of notice of intent to convert to condominiums to current residents. If property line is being changed, we need site plan of existing conditions and proposed.

3/20/2008-amachado: Spoke to Wally Geyer. He gave me a siteplan on March 17, 2008 that showed a proposed change for the lot line between 84 Eastern Prom and 102 Eastern Prom to separate the parking for the two buildings. I showed the proposed site plan to Tom Erico and Jim Carmody yesterday and they said that it doesn't meet today's standards and they would not approve it. If Wally changes the lot line to separate the parking, he has to show that he has seven spaces for 102 Eastern Prom and 4 spaces for 84 Eastern Prom. Any change in the lot line would also have to meet the underlying criteria for the R-6 zone. I told Wally this. He said that he wants to move forward with the condo conversion without changing the lot line at this point.

3/21/2008-amachado: Received copies of the notices sent to the tenants about the conversion to condos.

3/4/2008-amachado: Spoke to Terry Snow, Wally's lawyer. He asked me about the parking for the condos. I told him that what is proposed does not meet parking standards. Can keep it how it is now. He said that he would get Wally to come in and talk to me.

3/7/2008-amachado: Met with Wally Geyer. At this point he has decided to not change the lot line. Terry Snow is sending out the letters with the intent to convert to condos to the tenants. Once he is ready to change the lot line he will bring in a scaled site plan that shows the new parking.

RE: Condo conversions at 102 Eastern Promenade, Portland, Maine

To Whom it May Concern:

In as much as I have been able to see and inspect the electrical wiring systems throughout the above-referenced building, I have found the wiring and breaker panels to be recent and in good condition and up to Code.

I am unable to form an opinion to the wiring inside existing walls and ceilings, but if the visible wiring I have seen is any indication, I would believe it to be in good shape.

Sincerely,

Marc Gagne

SEI Job No. 2008-027

Subject: Structural inspection of the building located at 102 Eastern Promenade, Portland, Maine.

Attention: Mr. Geyer

Mr. Geyer:

At your request, I made a site visit on February 20, 2008 to the apartment building located at 102 Eastern Promenade. The building has three levels, and a daylight basement. The building was constructed in the late 1800s.

The apartment units are planned to be converted into condominiums. It is my understanding that the conversion from apartments to condominiums will not require structural modifications (new wall openings, etc.)

The purpose of my site visit was to inspect the condition of the building and to determine if the structure substantially complies with the current addition of the IBC building code for structural loading requirements.

I performed a visual inspection of the building. Architectural finishes concealed all framing. I inspected the apartments on each level of the building. Overall, I found the interior of the building to be in excellent condition. I found no signs of structural distress, such as sheetrock cracks or building settlement. Generally, if a floor is not adequately framed, deflection of the floor will cause noticeable cracks in the plaster. The floors felt solid, with little bounce to them. There were no signs of water infiltration on the walls or ceilings.

Pg. 2 of 2

Conclusion:

Overall, the building located at 102 Eastern Promenade was found to be in sound structural condition. Although much of the framing of the building was concealed, the interior of the building is in very good condition with no signs of any structural distress. Given the age of the building, if a problem had developed it would be detectable. Although I could not analyze the roof framing for snow load carrying capacity, I am confident in its adequacy due to the many severe Maine winters it has withstood. In conclusion, although I cannot verify with structural calculations that every aspect of this building meets current building code loading, it's age and good condition are proof that it can withstand current code loadings. I therefore find the building located at 102 Eastern Promenade in Portland, Maine to be suitable from a structural framing standpoint to be converted from apartments to condominiums. This report does not warranty in any way that some structural defects may exist in this building.

Qualified contractors have inspected the electrical and mechanical systems of the apartments, and the findings of their inspections are exclusive of this report.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Timothy G. Shelley

Subject: Structural inspection of the Carriage House at 102 Eastern Promenade, Portland, Maine.

Attention: Mr. Geyer

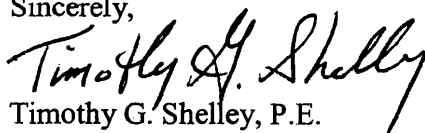

Mr. Geyer:

At your request, I made a site visit on February 25, 2008 to inspect the framing of the carriage house. It is my understanding that the first floor level will be used for tenant storage. The second floor space will be used as a general recreation room, available for all tenants of 102 Eastern Promenade.

The first floor is wood framed, spanning over a crawl space and a partial basement. Per our meeting, the existing floor framing will be removed and the crawl space and partial basement will be backfilled with compacted fill. A 6" concrete slab on grade will then be placed, which will be adequate for code mandated light storage loads (125psf). The second floor is framed with 2"x7.75" Douglas fir joists spaced at 24"oc. The joists span 10ft. from the exterior walls to an interior-bearing wall. This framing arrangement is adequate for code-mandated assembly loading (100psf). In a few places, the original Douglas fir joists were replaced with common 2x8s. At these locations an additional 2x8 should be sistered to the existing 2x8. The concrete floor slab should be thickened to 10"x12" wide at the location of the re-built interior load bearing wall. The thickened slab should be reinforced with (3) #4 bars in the long direction, and #4 bars at 24"oc in the short direction.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Timothy G. Shelley, P.E.
