Hi Ann,

Remember Sapporo? They would now like to permit a sign for the front of the building ( elevation attached ) and a hanging sign on the corner of their building. It would hang over their patio fence. Do minimum height requirements apply to hanging signs not over a public way?

They would also like to know whether they are due a refund on the fees already paid for their first permitting attempt. Can we just amend the denied application or will we need to file a completely new one?

Thanks for your time. bud
