Hi Brooke,

Ok, so I am confirming that the door dividing the game room from the storage area will be a minimum 1 hour fire rated.

I will approve the permit, however please note that it remains in review by the fire department.

Thanks,
Jeanie

Hi Jeanie,

I just left a message earlier and am back in our office for the afternoon. I am happy to talk over the phone about your question of the fire door.

The way that we have it drawn on the plans is that the fire-rated wall and door that we propose to build would separate the storage area from the game room area. This was the suggested plan when we had our fire inspection. I am happy to clarify.

Thank you,

Brooke

Hi Brooke,

I left a voice message for you yesterday with a question about the fire door(s).

There are 2 interior doors that look like they pass into adjacent rooms and one that looks to be an overhead door. Will both interior doors be fire rated? The one bordering the Game Room should be, while the other one looks like it borders the Garage, which is really the same use, storage. This one may not need to be a fire door.

Let me know,

Thanks,

Jeanie

Hi Jeanie,

I've attached the revised copies to this email. I had sent the older versions prior, apologies.

Thank you.
