This letter is to give an explanation as to what will occur when the property 561 Congress St. in Portland, changes hands from the Casco Bay Weekly to "Book Traders". Both business's are retail establishments, so there won't be any "change of use"; while the Casco Bay Weekly sold advertisement space, Book Traders will be just that: a used book store where the general public can bring in their books and exchange them for store credit and get more books; of course we will be selling the books outright for cash as well. We will also be selling black and white photography posters and used record albums.

Casco Bay Weekly is now out of the storefront, leaving the space empty for us. We will need to build as many bookshelves as possible, while keeping the space as open as possible. There will be bookshelves on the walls, as well as some freestanding bookcases. There will be a small display of posters for sale, and record racks/bins in the back. There is an existing conference room, out of which an office will be created.

The model for Book Traders, is "The Book Trader" in Philadelphia, Philadelphia's biggest and best used book store, where I, Curtis Kise, worked for six years, four of which as manager. My intention is to become Portland's biggest and best used bookstore. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

C. Curtis Kise

Subject: Detail of work to be erformed at 561 Congress St.

Dear Curtis:

Thank you for the opportunity to meet and discuss your plans for the interior renovations of the 3,140 sq. ft. that you have leased to open a used book store at 561 Congress St., Portland, ME.

The following paragraph describes the nature of the work you are requiring and a description of how we will perform this work. We will construct book shelving that will line all of the retail area perimeter walls of the shop except for interior doors, emergency lighting, front entrance, reception/register area and children's area. This perimeter shelving will be 8 feet tall. We will also construct double wide book shelving within the retail space. The first two rows of double wide shelving to the left hand side of the store will be 8 feet high and all additional rows will be 6 feet high. All book shelves within the perimeter of the store will run in direction from the front to back of the store. You have pointed out that great care must be given to properly building shelving that will withstand the heavy weight of books and to secure all shelving to minimize any risk for tipping. We will construct a wall in the right rear room of the space in order to establish a secure office space for you. This wall will have one lockable door and will be constructed so that the electric panel in that area will be accessible without entering your office. We will construct a second wall in the rear left side of the space in order to segregate the restroom and the kitchen/storage areas from the public space. This wall will have one lockable door. In the rear central area of the store we will construct bins suitable for the display and presentation of record albums. In the reception/register area, we will construct a counter that will run along the back of this space separating this space from the retail space. This counter will be approximately 40 inches high and will have book shelving on the retail side and storage shelving on the reception/register side. Any required modifications to existing lighting will be performed by a master electrician. All materials used in the our renovation of this space will be of high quality and all workmanship will be skilled and guaranteed to meet your satisfaction.

If you have any questions or need further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you.
