Dear Ed,

I am writing in regards to the building located at 101 Danforth St. and the work we performed at that location. Becker Structural Engineers, Inc. was requested to verify locations of existing bearing walls to aid in the renovation of the four story building at the above location. At no time did Becker Structural Engineers, Inc. perform any form of structural analysis on any portion of this building. Bearing conditions and basic framing orientation was determined by visual observations at select areas made accessible to us.

On two separate occasions BSE made site visits to observe areas as they became exposed. To date the areas, which have been observed, include units 2, 5, 6, 7, & 8. Other units at this building have not been verified. Attached are sketches of these units, which identify the bearing conditions. It should be understood that interior partitions, that are not intended to be bearing walls, often aid in the support of framing members which pass over them. In this case, only those walls, which appeared to have been originally intended as bearing points, were considered bearing walls. At the time of the site visits, the bearing walls shown on the attached sketches had not been removed, and shall not be removed in the future.

Sincerely,
BECKER STRUCTURAL ENGINEERS, INC.
