Comments:
5/28/2010-gg: received permit by mail on 05/21/10. Application is not clear on condominiums conversion. Ann said to pass permit along and zoning will do the follow up with owner. /gg
5/28/2010-amachado: Left vcm for Louise Murphy. Appears that the condo conversion is for two units (# 2 &3) only at this time. Need more information on when the tenants vacated the apartments. She may need to give the tenants notice that turning them into condos and first right to buy. Never seen a condo conversion for a couple units at a time. How does this work with the condo docs? Is she working with a lawyer? What is the work being done on the units does it need a permit? We would like floor plans of the building.
6/11/2010-AMACHADO: Met with Danielle. eE need condo docs. They need to be changed every time that there is a change it the number of condos. Need to notice tenants again when actually sell them.
6/14/2010-AMACHADO: Left vcm for Louise.
6/16/2010-AMACHADO: Returned call to Louise. Left vcm for Louise to call me.
12/27/2011-AMACHADO: It has been more than 6 months. Permit has expired.

To Whom It May Concern,

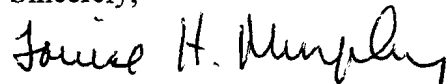

It is a long process to convert apartment buildings to condominiums requiring many pieces to fall into place. It is my intention to convert my six unit at 85-87 Emery Street, and my six unit at 12-14 Taylor Street into condominiums. Both of these building will be slowly converted, improving one unit at a time, rather than vacating the entire building to upgrade the units. We are confident that we can slowly convert the buildings over several years. We will be applying for permits one unit at a time as we feel we can make the improvements. We believe this is a reasonable and economical way to go about the conversion, especially since we don't have to do too much. We may add one bathroom and upgrade the knob and tube wiring using dropped ceilings. Other than upgrading the kitchen and bath, we won't do much else.

My architect, Chris Delano, has begun the process of drawing up plans. It is possible, for instance, that we will be required to install sprinklers since both buildings are 3 stories high. As you know, we are becoming rather experienced at converting apartment buildings to condominiums and believe this one at a time approach is feasible. It allows us to keep tenants while we work to improve one unit at a time.

It will take us a few years to complete these projects, but I would like to begin by getting condominium conversion permits for our vacant units. As people move out, we will get conversion permits so that we don't sacrifice our income potential during the long process.

At this time, I would like condominium conversion permits for units (floors) 2 and 3 at 87 Emery Street, and unit (floor) 3 of 12 Taylor Street. I have enclosed the necessary payment and information.

Sincerely,

Louise H. Murphy, Sea Otter LLC
