Hi

On this property, you are actually doing a change of use to include the installation of new equipment (not updating equipment like the other property you sent-1 city center.) This does include the additional cost of a Certificate of Occupancy, which is currently $100.

Our fees did go up on 7/1 and your total amount due is $499 ($100 for C of O and $399 for the construction cost)

The fees went to $25 for first $1000 worth of work and $11 for the remainder of each $1000 worth of work.

We received a check for this property in the amount of $370 (which was the old amount for the work alone.) Before this permit can move forward, we will need the remainder, $129 before this can move forward. Thank you.
