Dear Plan Reviewer/ Code Enforcement Officer,

Withdraw

Thank you for granting us a permit for rebuilding our chimney from one flu to two, as per the above Job and CBL identifiers. We are quite grateful. However, as so often occurs in life, a variety of events have conspired to prevent us from doing this work at this time. The permit expires before we will be able to do the work, and so we will re-apply in Spring of 2013.

I am writing because another permit request is going to cross your desk for this same property, and I hope to avert confusion. We have a contractor, Mark Moran, who is submitting an application for a permit to install a 15 foot shed dormer. We are seeking to create a third bedroom for the grandchildren (a one year old, and another on the way). That work, I hope, would be done before we are socked in with the truly cold weather. In other words, he says he is ready to move on this as soon as it is approved.

In summary, I am not sure how all this works on your end of things. But I was concerned that it might be odd receiving a request for further work on a property that had an as yet unacted upon permit outstanding. Please call if you have any questions or e-mail me at colelcsw@gmail.com. Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Cole Martin
