Hi Peter,

I am in receipt of your application to make alterations to the existing dwelling at 124 Bramblewood. Please note that one of the required submissions is a plot plan showing where the building is located with the setbacks given on the plan. Before I can complete my zoning review, I will need that plot plan. Depending on what I receive, I may need more structural information from you. If you are not meeting the required setback in the R-2 zone, you may be limited on your expansion. But at this point, I can not tell that without the required full plot plan.

this permit is on hold until I receive a plot plan as described. Call me if you have any questions.
