Richard -

Thank you for your email. I understand that your circumstances might be more unique than most home owners in Portland but unfortunately as the Zoning Administrator, I need to enforce the ordinance as it stands. Right now the ordinance does not allow short term rentals of dwelling units. The City Council is starting to look at how the City should address the issue of short term rentals, but until that happens and the ordinance changes, short term rentals are not allowed.

I will be sending you a letter in the next few days requiring that you bring your property into compliance.

Ann
