At Dev Rev today the others recommended that they relocate the dumpster to the right and angle it (so would take another parking space), and then put planting between it and the new drive and add another sign at the corner of the new drive identifying it.

This brings the parking from 14 (as approved) to 12 - which I think is OK from a zoning viewpoint (I would need them to send a floorplan to document that).

What is your view?

thanks
