Thank you for your email.

T-Mobile has decided to withdraw the application at this point. Please let me know if there's any other procedure we need to follow and also how to get a refund of the amount paid

Hello. The most recent communication on this permit is that T Mobil will be making changes and new plans/revised plans will be presented. We haven't had any news on this permit. At this point, the permit needs to either be withdrawn or moved forward. If there are new plans to be presented, then it would be better to void this permit and re-submit a complete application when you have new plans.
