Subject: 125 Sherwood

Dear Ann

I am currently in the process of hiring an architect to draw plans to make 125 Sherwood a legal 3 unit. I had a contractor come to give a general price first. The architect might take a little while to finish his sketch, but it is in process! Now these things alone can be quite expensive. Actually very as far as I am concerned and just wanted to make sure that if I did everything the enforcement officers and fire department asked me to do that it should be an easy answer for the ZBA to approve my unit at the public hearing. I already have a couple neighbors that said they would show up to support my cause so it's not like it's the whole neighborhood against me. Sounds like 1 bad apple.

Anyway sorry for the delay as I have been waiting to hear from these people as well

Thanks for everything

Lucas
