Dear Howard:

I have referred this soils analysis of the subject lot to the City Plumbing Inspector for review and he has indicated that it is o.k. for a buildable lot, but at the time an application for a building permit is applied for, the applicant must submit three (3) copies of the Form HHE-200 Soils Test results by an approved soils analyst.

The existing Form is adequate provided the building permit application is planned within a short period of time. The existing form reporting soil test results are valid until such time as the state amends its requirements. This has not been done recently.

Sincerely,

Warren J. Turner
Zoning Enforcement Inspector
