Zoning appeal at 325-329 Allen Avenue (Yerxa Oil Co.) to be heard on Friday,
August 4th.

It seems best to remind you that the appeal of Frank Yerxa, tenant of the garage at 321 Allen Avenue seeking additional storage tanks or gasoline and changing location of one pump relates to the same garage property which we have before had under consideration as violating the Zoning Ordinance with regard to taking on body and fender repair and auto painting with objectionable noise to the neighborhood, and my attention has now been called to the fact that Mr. Yerxa is habitually keeping more than one commercial vehicle on the property which is also contrary to the Zoning Law unless it may be established that it was a definite practice in 1938.

You will remember that a next door neighbor came in and complained about this situation, and, I think, I talked with you about the proposition. The question was then as to whether or not the City could proceed against Mr. Yerxa or the owner of the property because of objectionable noise, odor and fire hazard forbidden in the Local Business Zone where the property is located.

Later we had a complaint on May 8, 1950 that Mr. Yerxa was habitually parking two oil trucks on the property and now that he has as high as three commercial vehicles parked there at one time.

This matter is brought to your attention with the thought that you may wish to communicate it to the Board of Appeals in connection with the appeal to be heard on Friday.

Spray painting at 325-329 Allen Avenue (Yerra Garage)

We have had negotiations at considerable length under the Zoning Ordinance relating to the Repair Garage of Yerra Oil Company at 325-329 Allen Avenue, and it appears that we have pretty well exhausted the powers of the Zoning Ordinance to give any relief to the nearby property owners.

During the proceedings, however, it has developed that automobile painting is being done there and has been carried on for seven or eight years at least.

In view of the hazard to the nearby dwelling house reflected in increased insurance rates, it is recommended that you have the garage examined to see whether or not the operation of spray painting is being carried on with reasonable precautions as to safety.

Inspector of Buildings

WMcD/G

P. S. In passing by this location a number of times I have noted that some type of oil tank truck was being stored in the rear of the garage very close to the property line setting off the lot of James H. Jackson on which his dwelling house is located, the Jackson property facing on Abbott Street. I am wondering if storage of this tank truck there does not constitute a definite fire hazard and that you can at least require that the tank truck be parked on some other part of the lot so that it will not be so close to the Jackson dwelling.

Mr. Frank Yerca

Dear Mr. Yerca:

In trying to close out the question of use and compliance with the Zoning Ordinance of the garage and lot which you occupy at 325-329 Allen Avenue, I find that one particular feature under the Zoning Law has never been cared for.

The property is located in a Local Business Zone under the Zoning Law, where parking or storage of more than one commercial vehicle is not allowed at any one time and where there are certain rules as regards parking motor vehicles close to the property lines.

In driving by your garage twice recently, I have noted at least two trucks parked on the property at one time and one of them, an oil truck was parked in the rear of the garage in the driveway facing Abbott Street.

Unless you can demonstrate beyond reasonable doubt that more than one commercial vehicle or truck (we interpret that term to mean any vehicle other than those which bear passenger car license plates) were parked or stored on the premises at one time habitually early in December of 1938, I believe that such a practice is forbidden by the Zoning Ordinance, and therefore should be discontinued unless you can secure from the Board of Appeals the special right to keep more than one truck there.

Very truly yours,

Warren McDonald
